Hillsdale Earth Hour 2009

On Saturday, March 28, 2009

from 8:30 PM to 9:30 PM

Please do your part - turn off your power for an hour.
Help make Hillsdale a greener place to live.

Earth Hour was first celebrated two years ago in Sydney, Australia, when 2.2 million people turned out their lights allowing the message about climate change to shine brightly.

In March, 2008, Earth Hour went global. Over 50 million people in 400 countries around the world, 36 million of those Americans, turned off their lights for one hour to demonstrate their commitment to slowing the effects of climate change.

The movement captured the public's imagination with lights going out at some of the world's most iconic landmarks including New York's Empire State Building, the Coliseum in Rome, Sears Tower in Chicago and the Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco. Other symbols going dark included Cola-Cola's famous billboard in Times Square and the Google homepage.

This year, help bring Earth Hour to Hillsdale
